

Social Media Starter Guide for Craft Businesses

Why Social Media Matters for Craft Businesses

Social media is the most cost-effective way to reach customers who already love what you make. You don't need to be on every platform — you need to be on the right one for your craft.

Step 1 — Choose Your Platform

Instagram — Best for visual crafts: ceramics, textiles, jewellery, woodwork. Highly visual, strong craft community.

Facebook — Best for local sales, events, and older demographics. Great for market announcements.

Pinterest — Best for reaching buyers actively searching for handmade goods. Long content lifespan.

TikTok — Best for process videos. Fastest growing audience for craft makers under 45.

Step 2 — Set Up Your Profile Properly

- Use your business name (not a personal nickname)
- Profile photo: your face or your most recognisable product
- Bio: say what you make, where you're based, and where to buy
- Link: your website, Etsy shop, or booking page

Step 3 — What to Post

Aim for a simple mix: 40% process (how you make things), 40% products (what you sell), 20% personal (the person behind the craft).

Post 3-4 times per week to start. Consistency beats frequency.

Step 4 — Your First 30 Days

- Week 1: Set up and optimise your profile
- Week 2: Post daily — introduce yourself, your craft, your workspace
- Week 3: Engage — reply to comments, follow 10 accounts in your niche per day
- Week 4: Analyse — what got the most engagement? Do more of that
